Description of Work Performed and Progress:

For the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA), Cambridge Systematics is developing guidance materials on traffic analysis tools consistency with recommended practices. The FHWA, in support of the Traffic Analysis and Simulation Pooled Fund Study, has identified a need to create guidance on the selection and use of traffic analysis tools and other methods in a manner which promotes consistency. This study will identify, document, and develop guidance materials on the state-of-the-practice and the state-of-the-art in utilizing the range of data available from traffic analysis tools in a manner which the operating agencies, decision-makers, or seasoned professionals would not have otherwise gained through a raw interpretation of individual performance measures.
