The monitoring trailers were packed up and sent to the EPA laboratory in North Carolina. Final work on the Las Vegas data analysis report is being done and that should be available by the end of the next quarter. Quality assurance and review will begin on Detroit data when Las Vegas Report is released and finalized.

Please note, due to the fact that we are no longer collecting data and are in the analysis phase there will only be two more reports submitted for this research effort: Las Vegas Study Report, and Detroit Study Reports.
