at work had stalled due to issues with the fundin	g controlled by FHWA Resource Center in response to an audit for the FHWA pool fund program. The RC did not have proper personnel assigned and process in place to provide certification of working funds in support of the pool fund effort.
As of March 2005 Alaska Department of Transportation and Public Facilities, being duly authorized, assumed pool fund accounting management responsibilities. Current accounting activities includes inputting information into FHWA accounting program pool fund data base and locating additional pool fund money placed in a FHWA "lock box". Current efforts are to locate and account for lock box funding, self managed development of new training, testing modules, and test procedures. Lock box accounting has been stalled because full accounting of the funds was not performed adequately by FHWA. On going work in this area is needed to fully account of pool fund money.
Once all available was a first of the second Once all available money is accounted for contracting efforts can proceed to obtain a consultant WAQTC Program Manager. The contract will be a multiyear effort to support the WAQTC Executive Committee, maintain existing materials, develop new training and testing modules, and yearly update of WAQTC and AASHTO test methods.
